Block Page

Display a block page when a domain is being blocked. This may slightly increase page load time and an HTTPS warning may appear in some cases. When disabled, blocked queries will be answered with the unspecified address (0.0.0.0 or ::).

☐ Enable Block Page

Performance

Speed up your browsing.

Anonymized EDNS Client Subnet

Speed up the delivery of data from content delivery networks without exposing your IP address.

☒ Enable Anonymized EDNS Client Subnet

Cache Boost

Minimize DNS queries by enforcing a minimum TTL (Time to live).

☒ Enable Cache Boost

CNAME Flattening

Prevent CNAME-chasing resolvers from making unnecessary queries and pollute the logs with intermediate domains.

Web3 BETA

Web3 refers to a decentralized and censorship-resistant online ecosystem comprised of innovative technologies such as blockchain-based domain registries (e.g. Ethereum Name Service) and distributed content storage and delivery networks (e.g. IPFS). When enabled, NextDNS will act as an unfiltered gateway to this new Web, letting you experience it firsthand without the need to install anything.

As most browsers only support classic top-level domains at the moment, you should add a trailing slash ("/") when trying to access a Web3 domain directly (e.g. "vitalik.eth/" instead of "vitalik.eth").

☐ Enable Web3

Rewrites

Set or override the DNS response for any domain. Rewrites apply to subdomains as well, and local IP addresses are supported as answers.
